We Build Houses So You Will Have A Place to Call Home.

“I have done construction most of my life and have always enjoyed the creative aspects and great sense of accomplishment it gives me,” says Monte Howell, president of New Palestine-based Howell Custom Homes. “What better challenge than to create a beautiful, cozy home for someone to live in and raise a family?”

Monte, who has 25 years of construction experience, founded the company in 2003. He designs and builds all types of custom homes, typically ranging in price from $200,000 to $600,000. The company has won two silver awards and one platinum award at the 2005, 2006 and 2008 Hancock County New Home Tour. Monte was Hancock County Builder of the Year for 2007 and is on the board of directors for the Hancock County Builders Association. He serves as 2009-2010 President for Hancock County and is on the board of directors for the Builders Association of Greater Indianapolis.

Monte focuses on understanding the area and market where he is building to get a better idea of what styles and features potential clients will want. While he builds all over the Indianapolis area, he feels Hancock County has great growth potential because of its schools and close proximity to Indianapolis.

“All my homes are built to meet the Five Star energy rating,” he says. “They feature upgrades such as wood and tile floors, custom-tiled shower, custom kitchen cabinets, solid surfaces (granite, quartz, Corian, concrete), stainless steel appliances, epoxy-finish garage floors, crown mouldings, custom-built closets and custom-built fireplace mantels.”
