Premier Homes Your Hometown Builder

Premier Homes in Greenfield has built more than 300 homes in Hancock County since Daniel W. Mize founded the company in 1991. Over the years Premier's focus has remained unchanged: to design and build the best home for each client, providing personalized attention.

Daniel, a lifelong resident of Hancock County, has strong ties to the community. "We have always promoted the fact that we use local contractors that live and support this community," he says.

He cites reasonable property taxes, desirable schools and a geographic location within 35 minutes of Indianapolis International Airport among the advantages of living in Hancock County.

Over the years Premier Homes has built low-maintenance attached homes, custom empty-nester homes, multiple-family residences and commercial offices. The company specializes in designing and building affordable custom homes ranging from $120,000 to $350,000. It was a Gold Award winner in the $167,000 to $349,000 category in the 2008 Hancock County Home Tour.

Premier provides prospective customers with references so they can talk one-on-one with someone who has been through the entire building process with the company. Many past customers allow Premier to show their homes to prospective customers. The process begins with an analysis of the customer's needs and desires. Premier assists and guides customers through the selection of products and color choices and works with them on financing options.

"I personally oversee each and every detail on the day-to-day construction," Daniel says. "It is a great feeling to know that the owner of the company is the guy looking over your home every day."
